ABOUT US

Scott Christian University was established in 1962 as the national theological college of the Africa Inland Church Kenya to provide advanced training for church ministry and Christian leadership. The University was named in memory of Peter Cameron Scott, who led the Africa Inland Mission in Kenya in 1895, from which the Africa Inland Church emerged as one of its ministries.

Scott progressively upgraded its academic standards over the years. In 1972, the entry requirement was raised to a minimum of the Secondary School Certificate, Level Three. A further upgrade came in 1982 with the introduction of the Bachelor of Theology (B.Th.) programme, whose entry requirement was raised to university level through an arrangement with Ontario Bible College in Toronto, Canada. The first B.Th. students graduated in 1986.

In December 1979, Scott became the first post-secondary theological institution in Africa to receive accreditation from the Accrediting Council for Theological Education in Africa (ACTEA). Full accreditation of the Bachelor of Theology programme was granted in 1986.

Scott was granted a charter by the Government of Kenya in 1997 after revising its academic programmes and operations, and its Bachelor of Theology degree was recognized by the Commission for University Education (CUE). On 23 March 2012, the institution officially became Scott Christian University.

The University has since expanded its academic programmes to serve the church, society, and the wider community. It currently operates through two schools: the School of Theology and Social Sciences and the School of Education and Business Studies.

In 2025, the University also established the Scott Christian University TVET Institute to provide competency-based technical and vocational education and create pathways for career progression, lifelong learning, and higher education.

In line with its commitment to advanced scholarship and leadership development, the University introduced two doctoral programmes in 2026: PhD in Theological Studies and PhD in Leadership and Management.

AIC PRESIDING BISHOP'S ADDRESS:

Rev. Bishop. Abraham Mulwa

The Cabinet Secretary for the Ministry of Interior and National Administration, Hon. Onesmus Kipchumba Murkomen, Members of the Board of Trustees, the Chairperson and members of the Governing Council, Senate, distinguished guests, members of staff, parents and guardians, ladies and gentlemen, receive warm Christian greetings from the Africa Inland Church.

It is with great joy and thanksgiving to God that I join you today for the 61st Graduation Ceremony of Scott Christian University. On behalf of the Africa Inland Church, the sponsoring church of this University, I congratulate the University leadership, faculty and staff for their commitment to nurturing students in knowledge, skills, Christian values and character.

To our graduands, congratulations! Today marks an important milestone in your lives. As you leave this institution, remember that graduation is not the end of learning, but the beginning of a greater responsibility to serve God, the Church and our nation.

The theme of this graduation, "Empowering our Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills and Integrity," is both timely and significant. Our country needs graduates who will not only possess knowledge and skills, but who will use them with innovation, responsibility and integrity. Wherever you go, let your character speak as loudly as your qualifications. Be people who create solutions, provide leadership and make a positive difference in society, guided by the principal set in Mathew 5:16, "Let your light shine before others"

Ladies and gentlemen, as we celebrate our graduates, we must also look to the future of Scott Christian University. This University is an important part of the mission of the Africa Inland Church. For over six decades, it has contributed to Christian higher education and to the development of leaders who serve our nation and beyond. We have a responsibility to ensure that it continues to grow and become even better. It is for this reason that I make a strong appeal for the Scott Christian University Mega Fund Drive, whose target is Kshs. 750 million. This is our university. This is our responsibility. This is our opportunity.

I therefore call upon the Africa Inland Church family, our congregations, leaders, alumni, professionals, partners, parents and friends of the University to support this initiative generously. Let us build Scott Christian University together. Let us invest in its infrastructure, technology, academic excellence and future. Every contribution matters. When we support this University, we are investing in people; and when we invest in people, we are investing in the future of our nation.

To our graduands, go forth with confidence, serve with humility, lead with integrity and use your skills to transform your communities. May God bless you, may God bless Scott Christian University, may God bless the Africa Inland Church, and may God bless Kenya.

Congratulations to all our graduands.
Thank you, and God bless you all.

Thank you and God bless you

VICE CHANCELLOR'S ADDRESS

Rev. Prof. Jonathan Mwania, PhD

Our Chief Guest the Cabinet Secretary for the Ministry of Interior and National Administration, Hon. Onesmus Kipchumba Murkomen, Distinguished guests, Board of Trustees, Members of the University Council, distinguished guests, members of staff, parents and guardians, ladies and gentlemen,

Good morning.

It gives me immense pleasure and profound gratitude to welcome you all to the 61st Graduation Ceremony of Scott Christian University. This is indeed a historic and joyous occasion as we gather to celebrate the achievements of our graduands whose determination, resilience, and commitment have brought them to this important milestone. On behalf of the University Council, Senate, Management, Faculty, Staff, and the entire Scott Christian University community, I warmly congratulate each one of our graduands. Today marks the culmination of years of sacrifice, discipline, perseverance, and God's abundant grace.

This year's graduation is held under the inspiring theme:
"Empowering Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills, and Integrity."
This theme could not be more appropriate for our generation. Kenya and indeed the world require graduates who are not merely knowledgeable, but who possess practical skills, innovative minds, ethical leadership, and unwavering integrity. Our nation needs graduates who will become solution providers, entrepreneurs, researchers, educators, ministers, public servants, and transformational leaders capable of addressing the complex challenges of our time.

Today, we proudly confer degrees, diplomas, and certificates upon candidates who have successfully fulfilled the academic requirements of Scott Christian University. Among them are 12 Master's graduates representing various disciplines, a clear testimony that our postgraduate education continues to grow in both quality and impact.
Dear Graduates,

As you leave this institution, remember that your certificate is not merely an academic qualification, it is a commission to serve humanity. You have been equipped with knowledge, critical thinking, Christian values, and professional competence. Go into society as ambassadors of excellence, honesty, compassion, innovation, and servant leadership.
Our world is increasingly defined by rapid technological advancement, artificial intelligence, climate change, shifting economies, and evolving social structures. These realities require graduates who are adaptable, lifelong learners, and ethical decision-makers. Never stop learning, remain humble, and always allow your Christian values to guide your professional conduct.

Ladies and Gentlemen,
As we celebrate our graduates, we also celebrate remarkable progress that Scott Christian University has made during the past academic year. I am delighted to announce that our Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) Institute is now fully registered and has already admitted its first cohort of students.

This milestone significantly expands our educational mandate by providing competency-based technical skills that respond directly to the needs of industry and national development. Through TVET, Scott Christian University is contributing to the government's agenda of producing skilled professionals capable of driving economic transformation and creating employment opportunities.

Our commitment to advanced scholarship continues to grow. I am pleased to announce that enrolment for our two newly developed Doctor of Philosophy programmes will officially commence this month: that is Doctor of Philosophy in Theological Studies and Doctor of Philosophy in Leadership and Management. These programmes position Scott Christian University as an important centre for advanced research, leadership development, theological scholarship, and knowledge creation both nationally and internationally.

Research remains one of the defining pillars of every great university. Over the past year, we have undertaken a comprehensive revitalization of our Directorate of Research and Postgraduate Studies. Our postgraduate students now enjoy improved coordination, closer supervision, enhanced academic support, and stronger research mentorship. These improvements have significantly strengthened the quality of postgraduate training and research output within the University.

One of the highlights of this year was the successful Public Lecture on Artificial Intelligence, which attracted scholars, professionals, policymakers, students, and members of the public. The lecture stimulated important conversations on how emerging technologies can shape education, research, careers, and national development while maintaining ethical responsibility. To further strengthen our research culture, we have successfully revived the Africa Journal of Evangelical Theology (AJET Journal) and officially launched it online. This milestone provides an accessible scholarly platform through which researchers can publish high-quality peer-reviewed work, thereby enhancing knowledge dissemination and increasing the University's visibility within the global academic community.

Our commitment to research excellence continues to grow. I am therefore pleased to announce that on 22nd–23rd October 2026, Scott Christian University will host a virtual International Research Conference that will bring together scholars, researchers, professionals, policymakers, and practitioners from diverse disciplines and countries. We look forward to rich scholarly engagement that will generate innovative ideas capable of addressing local and global challenges.

Scott Christian University remains committed to strengthening Christian education across Africa Inland Church institutions. Earlier this year, we convened a consultative meeting with the Principals of all Africa Inland Church Bible Colleges. The discussions were fruitful, and we collectively resolved to establish a framework for closer collaboration between the University and the colleges. This partnership will promote quality assurance, curriculum development, faculty collaboration, academic progression for students, and enhanced enrolment into university programmes. Together, we are building stronger pathways for theological education and leadership development within the Church.

Another exciting development is the expansion of our basic education programme. For the past thirteen years, our kindergarten has faithfully nurtured young learners before releasing them to continue their education elsewhere. After careful reflection, we resolved that the time had come to build a complete educational pathway within the Scott family. I am therefore pleased to announce that our institution is now officially registered as Scott Talent Academy. This year, we successfully admitted our inaugural Grade One class, marking the beginning of an exciting journey toward establishing a fully-fledged academy that will progressively grow all the way to Senior School. Scott Talent Academy will provide holistic education grounded in Christian values, academic excellence, innovation, creativity, and character formation.

We recognize that quality education requires more than good programmes and dedicated lecturers. It requires modern classrooms, laboratories, libraries, ICT infrastructure, student facilities, staff offices, recreational facilities, and a conducive environment for teaching, learning, research, innovation, and spiritual formation.

It is against this background that the University Council has made a strategic decision to embark on a major resource mobilization initiative aimed at transforming the physical infrastructure of Scott Christian University. The Council has set an ambitious target of Ksh. 750 million to support the modernization and development of our university.
To kick-start this important initiative, the University will hold a major fundraising drive on 9th October 2026. This will be more than simply a fundraising event; it will be a defining moment in the history and future of Scott Christian University.

I therefore make a sincere appeal to our entire University community and to all our stakeholders and partners: our alumni, students, parents, staff, the African Inland Church, churches across Kenya and beyond, government agencies, corporate organizations, development partners, friends of the University, well-wishers, and members of the community, we invite you to join us in this historic journey. We are not merely raising money to construct buildings. We are investing in the future of generations. We are creating an environment where young men and women can acquire knowledge, develop skills, discover their God-given potential, nurture Christian character, and become leaders who will transform Kenya, Africa, and the world.
I appeal to all of you: let us own this vision together. Let us build together. Let us invest together. Let us leave a legacy together.

I sincerely thank the Chancellor, the University Council, the Board of Trustees, the Presiding Bishop and the leadership of Africa Inland Church Kenya for their visionary leadership, wise counsel, and steadfast support.

To our dedicated faculty and staff, thank you for your professionalism, commitment, and sacrifice in shaping the lives of our students. Your influence extends far beyond the classroom. To the parents and guardians present today, thank you for believing in Scott Christian University and for investing in the education of your children. This graduation is as much your celebration as it is theirs.

To our friends, partners, sponsors, alumni, government agencies, professional bodies, churches, and friends of the University, we deeply appreciate your continued collaboration and support.

Dear Graduates,
As you step into the next chapter of your lives, remember that success is measured not merely by wealth or position but by the lives you transform. Carry with you the values that Scott Christian University has instilled in you: Integrity above convenience, Service above self, Excellence above mediocrity, Innovation above complacency, Faith above fear. Wherever life takes May God grant you wisdom to innovate, courage to lead, integrity to serve, and grace to transform our nation and the world.

God bless you Class of 2026. God bless Scott Christian University.

CHAIRMAN, UNIVERSITY BOT'S ADDRESS:

Rev. Dr. Paul Mbandi

The Cabinet Secretary for the Ministry of Interior and National Administration, Hon. Onesmus Kipchumba Murkomen, Members of the Board of Trustees, the Chairperson and members of the Governing Council, Senate, distinguished guests, members of staff, parents and guardians, ladies and gentlemen, Good morning.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, it is my great pleasure to join you in celebrating the 61st Graduation Ceremony of Scott Christian University. Today is a moment of gratitude to God and a celebration of the achievements of our graduands.

To the Class of 2026, I extend my heartfelt congratulations. Your success is a testimony to your hard work, perseverance, and faith. As you leave this institution, remember that Scott Christian University has sought not only to educate your minds but also to shape your character and prepare you for a life of service.

The Board of Trustees remains committed to preserving the Christian identity, mission, and values of this University. We are encouraged by the progress the University has made in recent years and by the renewed sense of purpose that is positioning Scott Christian University for greater impact in higher education and national development. Our graduation theme, "Empowering Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills and Integrity," reminds us that true transformation begins with men and women of integrity. We therefore encourage you to use your knowledge and skills responsibly, lead ethically, and serve your communities with compassion and excellence.

I take this opportunity to thank our President, His Excellency Dr. William Samoei Ruto for gracing our 59th graduation and greatly supporting our university in various ways. I also thank the Sponsor-led by Bishop Dr. Abraham Mulwa, the Chancellor-Prof. Jacob Kibor, the University Governing Council, the Vice-Chancellor, Senate, faculty, staff, parents, guardians, and all our partners for your continued support of the University.

May God guide your paths, bless your future, and use each one of you to be a blessing to the Church, the nation, and the world.

Congratulations, Class of 2026.
Thank you, and may God bless Scott Christian University and the Republic of Kenya.

COUNCIL CHAIRPERSON'S ADDRESS:

Dr. Arch. Reuben M. Mutiso, PhD, MBS

The Cabinet Secretary for the Ministry of Interior and National Administration, Hon. Onesmus Kipchumba Murkomen, Members of the Board of Trustees, the University Governing Council, Senate, distinguished guests, members of staff, parents and guardians, ladies and gentlemen, Good morning. It is a privilege to address you on behalf of the University Governing Council during this 61st Graduation Ceremony of Scott Christian University. This occasion marks an important milestone not only for our graduands, but also for the University as an institution that continues to grow in strength, stability, and purpose.

To our graduands, I extend my sincere congratulations. Your achievement reflects determination, discipline, and resilience. As you receive your degrees, diplomas, and certificates today, you become part of the enduring legacy of Scott Christian University and join a generation that is expected to contribute meaningfully to the transformation of our nation. The progress we have witnessed over the past two years has been encouraging, and it reflects prudent stewardship, stronger governance systems, dedicated leadership, and the unwavering commitment of our staff and stakeholders.

One of the clearest indicators of this progress is the continued strengthening of our academic portfolio. The development of the PhD in Theology and the PhD in Leadership and Management represents a significant milestone in the University's journey. These programmes will enhance research, leadership development, and the University's contribution to national and regional scholarship As a Council, we recognize that sustainable transformation requires bold investment. For this reason, we have fully embraced the KSh 750 million transformation agenda, which seeks to modernize our academic infrastructure, expand research and innovation capacity, improve student facilities, strengthen digital learning, and position Scott Christian University for long-term sustainability and greater national impact.

The forthcoming Mega Fund Drive is therefore a strategic undertaking that will shape the next chapter of this University. We view it as a partnership with government, the Church, alumni, development partners, the corporate sector, and friends of the University who share our conviction that quality Christian higher education is essential to Kenya's future.

Our graduation theme, "Empowering Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills and Integrity," aligns perfectly with this vision. We are committed to building an institution that not only produces graduates, but also develops ethical leaders, entrepreneurs, innovators, and professionals who will strengthen communities and advance national development. I express my appreciation to the Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, Senate, faculty, staff, parents, guardians, and all our partners for your continued confidence in and support of Scott Christian University.

To the Class of 2026, I encourage you to lead with integrity, serve with humility, and pursue excellence with courage. May your education become a force for transformation wherever God places you.

Once again graduands God be with you and your loved ones

UNIVERSITY CHANCELLOR'S ADDRESS:

Rev. Prof. Jacob Kibor

The Cabinet Secretary for the Ministry of Interior and National Administration, Hon. Kipchumba Murkomen, the Board of Trustees, the Chairperson and members of the Governing Council, The Vice Chancellor, and Senate, distinguished guests, members of staff, parents and guardians, graduands, ladies and gentlemen,

Good morning.
It is a great honour and privilege to join you in celebrating the 61st Graduation Ceremony of Scott Christian University. Today is a day of thanksgiving and celebration as we recognize the achievements of our graduates and commission them into a world that needs their knowledge, skills, and character.

To our graduands, I extend my heartfelt congratulations. Your success reflects discipline, resilience, and determination. I also thank your parents, guardians, sponsors, lecturers, and mentors whose encouragement and sacrifice have made this achievement possible.

Our theme, "Empowering Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills and Integrity," reminds us that the future of our nation depends on graduates who can create solutions, embrace change, and lead with integrity. Kenya needs innovative minds, skilled professionals, ethical leaders, and citizens committed to the common good.

I encourage you to become innovators who create opportunities, solve problems, and contribute meaningfully to national development. Continue developing your skills, pursue lifelong learning, and strive for excellence in all that you do.

Above all, guard your integrity. Lasting transformation is built on honesty, accountability, humility, and service. Let your competence always be matched by your character.

As a Christian university, we believe that education is about both knowledge and character. Our prayer is that you will be guided by the words of Matthew 5:16: "Let your light shine before others." May your lives reflect Christ's values and bring hope and transformation wherever you serve.

Remain connected to Scott Christian University as proud alumni and ambassadors of this institution. Your achievements and support will help strengthen the University and inspire future generations.

Graduands, today you receive your degrees, diplomas, and certificates; tomorrow you begin the greater task of transforming lives. Go and serve with excellence, innovate with purpose, and lead with integrity.

May God bless you abundantly and prosper the work of your hands.
Congratulations, Class of 2026.

Members of the University Senate and Management,
Faculty and Staff,
Distinguished Guests,

Graduands,
Ladies and Gentlemen.

Good morning.
It is a great honour and privilege for me to join the Scott Christian University fraternity on this very special occasion. I wish to sincerely thank the University Council, Management, and the entire Scott Christian University community for inviting me to share in this important celebration. Let me begin by congratulating the graduands who are being presented for graduation today. Today is your day.

It is a day to celebrate your hard work, perseverance, discipline, sacrifice, and determination. It is also a day to recognize the contribution of your parents, guardians, lecturers, mentors, and everyone who supported you throughout your academic journey. To the parents and guardians, I congratulate you as well. Your children have reached this important milestone because you believed in them, supported them, prayed for them, and made sacrifices for their education.

To the University leadership, faculty, and staff, I commend you for your contribution to developing the human capital that our country needs.

As you receive your certificates and degrees today, I want you to remember one important thing: Graduation is not the end of your education. It is the beginning of your responsibility to society. The world you are entering is very different from the world your parents entered. Today, knowledge is changing rapidly. Technology is transforming the workplace. Artificial intelligence is redefining how we work, communicate, conduct business, undertake research, and even how governments deliver services.

Consequently, the question you should ask yourselves is not simply: "What job will I get? "You must ask: "What problem can I solve?" You must ask: "What value can I create?" And, more importantly: "How can my education make Kenya a better country?" That is why the theme of this graduation is both timely and important:

Our country has enormous challenges in employment, entrepreneurship, healthcare, education, agriculture, technology, infrastructure, environmental sustainability, and public service delivery. But every challenge also presents an opportunity for innovation. You have been educated not merely to look for opportunities but also to create opportunities. Do not allow yourself to become a graduate whose only ambition is to look for employment.

Become a graduate who can create employment. Become an entrepreneur. Become an innovator. Become a researcher. Become a community leader. Become a professional who can transform institutions. And wherever you work, ask yourself: "How can I make this institution better than I found it?" That is the spirit of national transformation.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Academic qualifications remain important, but qualifications alone are no longer sufficient. The modern economy requires graduates who can translate knowledge into practical solutions. I therefore commend Scott Christian University for expanding its programmes and strengthening practical skills development.

I am particularly pleased to learn that the University has now established a fully registered TVET Institute, which has already enrolled students. This is an important development because Kenya needs a workforce equipped with practical, technical, entrepreneurial, digital, and professional skills. We must remove the misconception that technical and vocational education is inferior to university education. A nation cannot develop without technicians, artisans, engineers, innovators, entrepreneurs, ICT specialists, builders, agricultural experts, healthcare workers, and other skilled professionals.

As the Cabinet Secretary responsible for Interior and National Administration, I have the responsibility of contributing to the maintenance of peace, security, law and order, and the effective functioning of national administration. But security is not only about police officers and government agencies. Every citizen has a role in building a secure and peaceful Kenya.

When you refuse to participate in corruption, you strengthen the country. When you reject violence, you strengthen the country. When you respect the law, you strengthen the country. When you refuse to discriminate against another Kenyan because of ethnicity, religion, gender, region, or political affiliation, you strengthen the country. When you use your education to serve others, you strengthen the country. Therefore, as you leave this University, I challenge you to become ambassadors of peace, unity, responsible citizenship, and integrity.

The world is changing rapidly, and institutions of higher learning must change with it. Universities must become centres of innovation, entrepreneurship, research, technology, ethical leadership, and community transformation. Scott Christian University has a proud history spanning more than six decades. But the greatest universities are not defined only by their history. They are defined by their vision for the future.

I therefore encourage the University to continue expanding its academic programmes, strengthening research, embracing technology, investing in infrastructure, building strategic partnerships, and producing graduates who can compete and serve effectively in Kenya, Africa, and the global community.

Let me conclude with a simple challenge:
Do not wait for Kenya to become the country you want. Become the generation that builds the Kenya you want.

To the Class of 2026, I congratulate you. I wish you wisdom in your decisions, courage in your challenges, humility in your success, and integrity in your leadership.

May God bless Scott Christian University.
May God bless our parents and families.
May God bless the Class of 2026.
And may God bless and protect the Republic of Kenya.
Congratulations, and God bless you all.

Empowering Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills, and Integrity

The graduation of a cohort of students from Scott Christian University marks not merely the culmination of academic pursuit, but the commissioning of a generation entrusted with the responsibility of shaping the future of our nation and the global community. This year's theme, "Empowering Graduates for National Transformation: Innovation, Skills, and Integrity," resonates profoundly with the contemporary demands of society and the enduring mission of our institution.

In an era defined by rapid technological advancement, complex socio-economic challenges, and shifting moral landscapes, the call for innovation is no longer optional, it is imperative. Innovation, as articulated by Drucker (1985), is the specific instrument of entrepreneurship through which individuals exploit change as an opportunity for a different business or service. Our graduates must therefore position themselves not only as job seekers but as problem solvers, creators, and pioneers who leverage knowledge to generate sustainable solutions for national development.

Equally indispensable are the skills that translate knowledge into practical impact. The World Economic Forum (2020) underscores that critical thinking, creativity, and complex problem-solving are among the most essential competencies for the modern workforce. Scott Christian University has endeavored to nurture these competencies, equipping graduates with both intellectual rigor and practical aptitude. As alumni, we affirm that the true test of education lies not in certificates earned, but in the ability to contribute meaningfully to society.

However, innovation and skills, devoid of integrity, risk becoming instruments of exploitation rather than transformation. Integrity remains the moral compass that guides responsible leadership and sustainable progress. As Covey (1989) observes, trust, rooted in integrity, is the foundation of effective leadership and societal cohesion. Our graduates are therefore called to embody ethical principles in all spheres of influence, ensuring that their contributions uplift rather than undermine the common good.

As Chairman of the Alumni Association, I extend a warm invitation to all graduates to actively engage with the alumni community. The alumni network is not merely a social platform but a strategic resource for mentorship, collaboration, and continuous professional development. Through collective engagement, we strengthen our institutional legacy and expand our impact across sectors and borders. Furthermore, I urge our graduates to embrace the noble responsibility of giving back to Scott Christian University. Philanthropic support, mentorship programs, and institutional partnerships are vital in sustaining academic excellence and expanding opportunities for future generations. As articulated by Mauss (1954) in his theory of reciprocity, giving is not merely an act of generosity but a social bond that reinforces community and shared purpose.

Finally, I call upon you, our graduates, to step into the world with courage and conviction. Render service to our nation with diligence, extend your influence beyond borders with excellence, and remain anchored in the values that define this great institution. The transformation we seek in society begins with individuals who are committed to innovation, equipped with relevant skills, and guided by unwavering integrity.

Congratulations on your achievement, and welcome to a lifelong journey of impact as proud alumni of Scott Christian University.

Bishop Joshua Nzau Kimuyu
Chairman, Scott Christian University Alumni Association

Kenya National Anthem

O God of all creation
Bless this our land and nation
Justice be our shield and defender
May we dwell in unity
Peace and liberty
Plenty be found within our borders.

East Africa Anthem

Ee Mungu twaomba ulinde
Jumuiya Afrika Mashariki
Tuwezeshe kuishi kwa amani
Tutimize na malengo yetu.

Chorus:
Jumuiya Yetu sote tuilinde
Tuwajibike tuimarike
Umoja wetu ni nguzo yetu
Idumu Jumuiya yetu

Congregational Hymn

Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus,
Just to take Him at His word;
Just to rest upon His promise;
Just to know, Thus saith the Lord.

Chorus
Jesus, Jesus, how I trust Him,
How I've proved Him o'er and o'er,
Jesus, Jesus, Precious Jesus!
O for grace to trust Him more.

O how sweet to trust in Jesus,
Just to trust His cleansing blood;
Just in simple faith to plunge me,
'Neath the healing, cleansing flood.

Yes, 'tis sweet to trust in Jesus,
Just from sin and self to cease;
Just from Jesus simply taking
Life, and rest, and joy, and peace.

I'm so glad I learned to trust Thee,
Precious Jesus, Savior, Friend;
And I know that Thou art with me,
Wilt be with me to the end.

University Hymn

God of wisdom, Lord God of love,
lead Scott Family from above,
Mould her life to thy design;
hold her by Thy strength, O Lord divine.

Chorus
O Scott Family send out men,
to a world lost deep in sin,
Men who heed the spirit's call,
yielding Thee their lives, their all.

God of goodness, Lord God of Light,
guide Scott Family in the right,
yielding to Thy guiding hand,
holding forth Thy truth in this our land.

God of mercy, Lord of Grace,
forward lead us in our race,
give us vision to obey,
Thy commandments Lord from day to day.

Christ our Savior, Christ our King,
all to Thee we freely bring,
Take our lives, our wills, O Lord;
cleanse our every thought, our every word.
